

We always hurt when someone we love leaves. We wonder why they couldn't stay, why something beautiful had to end. But maybe not every person who enters our lives is meant to remain, they are simply part of the road that leads us somewhere else.

So let them go, and let yourself grieve. Someday, the love we kept searching for may find its way to us. And when it does, perhaps we'll understand that some goodbyes weren't the end of our story, but the space that made room for the right beginning.